

FREE RUSSIAN LANGUAGE COURSES FOR FOREIGNERS

Novgorod State University (Russia) announces free programs of the Open Russian Language project. Within the framework of the project, 55 general education courses will be available: from elementary to certification level.

Distance learning is provided through the Moodle platform.

Courses are available for foreign citizens living in Russia and abroad. There is no age limit for listeners. One can enroll in one or several courses.

The duration of each course is from 10 to 20 academic hours.

The training is carried out by highly qualified teachers with extensive experience in the field of teaching Russian as a foreign language.

The top 100 students will be able to take a free test in Russian as a foreign language at an elementary or basic level. After testing, they will receive a standardized certificate, officially confirming the level of language proficiency.
